HyperMotion allows players to move naturally and run at top speed, without having to spend countless hours in the FIFA Trainer, while the physics engine allows players to make quick, precise attacks. FIFA 22 includes two gameplay modes: standard matches and unranked custom matches. In addition, it introduces “Real Player Motion (RPM)”, which expands on the new “HyperMotion Technology”. The goal of RPM is to provide a very realistic simulation and increase the overall sense of immersion in the gameplay experience. RPM is designed to take “2D” action to a new level. Players

move and shoot from first-person perspective, receiving true to life, high speed movements; tackling, passing and shooting are all based on real-life player mechanics, e.g. positioning, positioning and shooting at goal. Players can also move and dribble freely, as if they were in a real game. The core of RPM is the out-of-this-world physics engine, which is a true innovation in terms of gameplay. RPM integrates body, face and head motions into a highly detailed simulation, creating a “3D” experience for players. The engine combines the best of 2D and 3D gameplay to deliver a totally new gaming experience. For FIFA 22, we have also made many adjustments to the various game-play aspects. Player attributes, including acceleration, sprint speed, tackling and defence have been extensively optimized to ensure improved performance, while the goalkeeper AI has been upgraded to become more skillful and intelligent. The men and women's national teams have also been strengthened and now boast talented players from across the globe. The game also features a fully-customizable loadout system, which allows players to create their very own player build. FIFA 22 is also the first FIFA game to feature official licenses from leading clubs around the world, including Bayern Munich, AC Milan, Barcelona, Chelsea, Inter Milan, Manchester United, Real Madrid, Roma, Schalke and Tottenham. It will be available for PlayStation®4, Xbox One and Windows PC on 26th September 2018. Key Features Unbeatable physics FIFA 22 presents the latest physics engine ever created for a sports title. In partnership with the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences, FIFA has created a more realistic physics engine with true to life collisions and behaviours of players.
